

SOACE Career Services and Human Resources Job Posting Template

The Wake Forest University administration considers the career development of students to be a strategic priority, recently committing substantial resources and support to this endeavor. Therefore, the Office of Personal and Career Development is excited to announce an employment opportunity for another staff member to join their Employer Development Team. The position focuses on the development of internships and jobs in start-ups through large organizations in Washington, D.C., New York and major North Carolina cities. This promises to be an exciting time as the office builds on a tradition of excellence by expanding its services, outreach, and programming for Wake Forest students.
